

Beautiful Bespoke Oak
Frames in Scotland

 Carpenter Oak
& Woodland

Welcome to Carpenter Oak & Woodland

We've been handcrafting frames in Angus, Scotland since 1999.

About us

The Angus premises, situated on the banks of the picturesque Loch of Lintrathen on the Southern edge of the Cairngorms National Park, is ideally located to serve Scotland and northern England. We have a skilled team of carpenters, sales, design and project management on site.

We have built frames in some wonderful locations; from the Orkney Islands, Highlands and Western Isles to the central belt and Scottish Lowlands. Championing the use of natural materials, we have been influential in the use of heavy timber framing in both the traditional and modern Scottish architectural vernacular. We have been involved in a wide range of self-build and residential projects, along with some truly spectacular historic and civic projects; from the conservation work at Stirling Castle to the Robbie Burns Museum, Roselyn Chapel and the Loch Lomond & Trossachs National Park HQ.

We hope you enjoy looking through our brochure and it inspires you to create your dream home.

Charley Brentnall, Founder

The truss and gable end purlins and ridge beam are now up. Everything fitted perfectly. I was particularly pleased with the design and crafting of the joints...Please convey my thanks to your team."

Douglas Murray, Loch Fyne

Timber framed homes

All of our bespoke frames have been lovingly hand-crafted to exploit each timber's natural qualities.

Bespoke contemporary and traditional frames

The reason why our homes are truly bespoke is because we listen to you and your requirements, so we can design something that completely reflects you, be that a traditional Scottish house or a contemporary glazed build.

Our in-house designers take time to understand your requirements and aspirations, as well as appreciating the specific needs of the site to combine this information with our in-depth specialist knowledge of timber to create a truly individual home. We can also work with external architects, engineers and designers of your choosing.

Extensions, garden rooms and swimming pools

There can come a time when you just need more space - perhaps for an office, playroom or maybe just a place to sit and enjoy the garden. An oak framed extension, garden room or conservatory doesn't just add the extra space you require it also adds a unique character to your home.

We have also built a considerable number of frames for swimming pools and have unparalleled experience in this area.

More than just homes

Although oak frame homes are a large part of what we do, we have also developed an unparalleled reputation in conservation, timber engineering and for special, one off projects.

Conservation and timber engineering

One thing that sets us apart at Carpenter Oak & Woodland is our conservation and restoration work. With our specialist knowledge and craftsmanship we have restored many ancient buildings in a sympathetic manner.

As a company we have always placed a strong emphasis on sensitive conservation and restoration. We train all our carpenters in the discipline of conservation, and many of our master craftsmen choose to become specialist conservation carpenters. Our expertise in conservation means we are frequently called upon to restore prestigious buildings such as Stirling Castle (above, left).

As well as our conservation and restoration work we have been involved with a number of exciting timber engineering projects – combining timber with modern materials such as steel and glass to create truly brilliant buildings such as Rosslyn Chapel (above, centre) and the BBC Castaway pods (above, right).
